From The Rectory -AKA Honey Trees

Dear Friends

I have just been interviewed by a very young, nice policeman in my front garden.

The reason for his visit was to take a statement following a scam phone call I had received earlier in the day.

Why am I telling you this? Because it could be you, or someone near/dear to you and I want to pass on what to look out for as the crooks are operating in our area: I was the fourth, and it was only 3pm!

Someone phones and states they are from such and such police force - mine was supposedly a PC from Paddington Police Station in London. He asked me to confirm who I was - he knew my name and address. He gave me his name and collar number - PN318. He told me to write his name and number down and to immediately dial 999. 'Are you sure' I said. 'Yes, dial 999 and they will verify I am genuine'.

Alarm bells were already ringing and now they were deafening! So I rang 101 - the non emergency police number. It's a scam the lovely lady told me and confirmed with me that I had not disclosed any of my bank details. We'll send a policeman round to take a statement she said and he turned up a few hours later.

The police are taking this very seriously as the gang of crooks are targeting our area and someone has already lost £10,000!

So, please be warned - do not give anyone - including policemen/women your card or bank details. Do not let them take you to the cash machine to withdraw your money - ever. Do not let them help you transfer your money to a new safe account.

RING 101 immediatley but before you do, make sure the phone has disconnected i.e. you hear a dialling tone as the crooks can stay on the line and listen in. The police will not ask for card/bank details over the phone.

This shook me up a bit and I was feeling a little down and so I went for a walk down by the river Wissey. The sky was a startling blue with little fluffy white clouds. The birds were singing and a mother moor hen was gliding along with her little brood on her back. What a tonic and a song I sang as a child popped into my head:

Glad that I live, am I;

That the sky is blue.

Glad for the country lanes and the fall of dew.

After the sun the rain, after the rain the sun.

This is the way of life, since the world begun.

God was in His heaven and so was I. Yes, there are some callous folk around but the majority are good, hardworking souls and we must focus on the good things we have.

Every morning I give thanks for what I and my family have mainly good health, good food and decent homes; and every evening I count the blessings that the day has bought - tonight I include the caring police force that acted so quickly and were genuinely concerned for all of us in our villages.

Keep safe and do, please, email or phone me if you would like to chat or have any worries or concerns.

God Bless and rest in the love and Peace of Christ.

Local people asked for help to design a campaign around future care preferences

The national Recommended Summary Plan for Emergency Care and Treatment (ReSPECT) initiative has launched in Norfolk in March 2020, just before the UK went into lockdown due to the Coronavirus Pandemic. Although take up of ReSPECT has started there is still the need to raise awareness among the public about the initiative, and encourage everyone to start thinking about having 'the conversation'.

What is ReSPECT?

ReSPECT is a personalised process to plan a person's clinical care in the event of a future emergency. It results in a document that contains the person's wishes and care preferences along with appropriate clinical recommendations. It will also record when a 'Do Not Attempt Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation' (DNACPR) decision has been made but it is important to note that a person can have a completed ReSPECT form and still be 'for' CPR. For further information, including frequently asked questions, please see https://www.resus.org.uk/respect/

Who is it for?

ReSPECT can be for anyone, of any age. It is most likely to benefit people:

with complex health needs or at risk of sudden collapse or cardiac arrest or nearing the end of their lives or who want to record their preferences for any reason.

Why is this being introduced?

At present, conversations with those living with serious illness tends to focus solely on decisions relating to cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) which can result in misunderstandings about treatment plans. There is variation across Norfolk and Waveney in how these decisions are documented.

Few people go on to discuss what other types of care they would or would not want in an emergency situation. The ReSPECT process has been developed by the Resuscitation Council (UK) collaboratively with many organisations including patients, the public, and the Royal Colleges with the intention of designing a process that is more acceptable to patients and that standardises processes and documentation across organisational boundaries.

How can I help promote ReSPECT in Norfolk and Waveney?

The Norfolk and Waveney team really want to hear how they can encourage people to have 'the conversation'. Please take the time to complete the survey and share this on your networks, with your patients and clients, and with your friends and family. Maybe you could also think about starting the conversation with your own friends and family?

At the time of writing, mobile libraries are not operating, but the good news is that most of the libraries are open. Not quite as usual, but still easy to do. Remember to take your library card and your mask, and wait for the staff to let you in. Not all the books are back on the shelf yet, but it's good to be able to borrow some new ones! R

Bus timetables are a bit of a mystery. As far as I can see, the bus which goes through Beachamwell to Norwich is operating as usual, but if you are looking for a bus, check the website of the firm which serves your village. No buses come here, so I'm mystified. However, on another page is information about the community bus service.

COUNTRYSIDE NOTES Sept 2020

PART 1 ROMANY GYPSIES

A few ago I researched the life of a true Romany bred gypsy woman because her story was so interesting. She was very co-operative - that is until I got round to having it published. She then claimed she was getting 'bad vibes' and changed her mind. My manuscript is still filed away somewhere in my study. It's a pity because her story fascinated me. She told me a lot about Romany culture - much different to the Irish travellers. She told me of pride in their traditions, their respect for the countryside, their language and about the wagons they lived in. They believed the countryside looked after them so they should look after the countryside. Yes, they used their wits and lived off the land and certainly weren't adverse to taking the odd pheasant or rabbit for the pot nor turning their horses into farmers' fields to graze, but she was taught by her father that 'to take more than you need leads to greed.'

Do you remember a fair haired gypsy woman, (not all Romany have black hair and swarthy complexions), named Christine who used to set up camp on the wide verges between Barton and Beachamwell? When she moved on after a few days the only signs she left of ever having been there were a small circle where she'd had her fire to cook over and larger ones where she'd tethered her horse Compo to graze. No mess at all. She spent the spring and summer travelling around Norfolk.

True Romany gypsies can trace their ancestry back a thousand years to the regions of northwest India. Caught up in defending that area, when India was invaded by Persian Muslims, they eventually became cut off from their homeland. So began their relentless wanderings. By the end of the thirteenth century they'd reached Greece, in the fifteenth they spread through Serbia, Croatia, Romania and Hungary and then westwards into Europe reaching England, via Scotland, in the early 1500s. In those days, folk weren't used to people coming in peace, or who looked different, lived a different lifestyle, held different values and spoke a foreign language. Romanys were treated with mistrust and persecuted; something that has continued to this day. It was made a crime to 'wander abroad and sleep in the open air' but nothing could suppress their desire to be free. For centuries they were punished with deportation or hanging. They were opportunists living off the land. Meadows, woods and hedgerows provided much of what they needed. Before the Enclosures Acts most of it was common land, then suddenly, the wealthiest became landowners expecting people to work and obey rules. Almost all the countryside, and that which lived in it, became owned by someone. Romany people were excluded; they couldn't adapt to a way of life where freedom was denied them. Their life became even harder in the mid-nineteenth century when they were joined on the road by itinerant Irish people, coming to Britain to escape the famine.

CHURCH BUILDINGS

Someone in Grimshoe Benefice recently sent me quote by Sir Roger Scruton on the subject of church buildings (see below) and it prompted to reflect briefly on some aspects of their significance:

"The buildings that the Church of England maintains are not just symbols. They are part of our national identity. They define our spiritual condition even in the midst of scepticism and unbelief. They stand in the landscape as a reminder of what we are and what we have been; and even if we look at them with the disenchanted eye of modern people, we do so by way of recognizing that, in their own quiet way, they are still enchanted." – Sir Roger Scruton

The significance of these ancient buildings and their upkeep is a pressing issue for many of us and is a matter which the Deanery Strategy Group has included in its remit. And the Scruton quote recalled for me a poem written by the poet Philip Larkin called Church Going during which he questions himself as to why he visited churches:

"Yet stop I did: in fact I often do,

And always end much at a loss like this,

Wondering what to look for; wondering, too,

When churches will fall completely out of useWhat we shall turn them into," he writes on entering a church and concludes:

"A serious house on serious earth it is,

In whose blent air all our compulsions meet,

Are recognized, and robed as destinies.

And that much never can be obsolete,

Since someone will forever be surprising

A hunger in himself to be more serious,

And gravitating with it to this ground,

Which, he once heard, was proper to grow wise in,

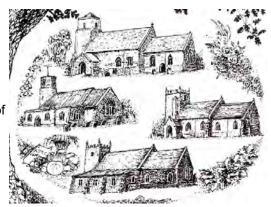

If only that so many dead lie round."

Churches are places where significant aspects of life are celebrated, where serious things are said and enacted at key moments in life. They are also places where we engage with serious issues about our life and purpose on this earth. The church building is usually the oldest building in the community village/town etc. it is the repository of the history of the place and its people, recording their joys and sorrow, hopes and fears, celebrations and disasters. It holds the history of our forebears and ancestors and to adapt TS Elliot (and others) its walls are soaked in the incense of their prayers (cf Rev 5:8 and 8:5). It is often the most significant building historically and aesthetically (with its contents) in the area and often contains the most important art and architecture.

It is a privilege to have the care of them and make them available to those among whom we live. We are in danger of deceiving ourselves if we think closing the buildings will help solve our problems. In the last 40 years the many free churches decided to close many of their village chapels and encourage people to go to the nearest town chapel. People did not do so, however, instead they either went to the Village (Anglican) Church or stopped going to church altogether. In the case of Cof E the church is about people and place, about community and care beyond the regular worshippers. Our task is to find new and imaginative ways to secure the future of these buildings but whatever plans we make I do not believe we will succeed unless we are able to engage with and get help and assistance from the wider communities (eg the villages and their people) in which buildings are set. In the long term I think we need to think about establishing community trusts to help us with our task. Meanwhile thanks are due to the wardens and small bands of people that do so much to care for these historic and holy sites

Free home assessments on offer

Older, disabled or vulnerable residents of West Norfolk are being encouraged to book an appointment for a free home assessment from Careline Community Services.

The assessments, which are carried out by a team of qualified staff, will help residents, who may be living with a disability or dementia, or who are simply older and less mobile, to identify concerns in their property which may be affecting their day-to-day life.

The assessor, trained by the Disabled Living Foundation, will inspect the home to see whether measures could be introduced that would reduce the possibility of seiples, trips and falls and generally make it easier for people to live safely and independently in their own homes.

Measures that could be considered include installation of a Careline personal alarm, improved lighting arrangements, heating checks, draught proofing, smoke detectors and easy-to-use taps along with recommendations for other adaptations that may reduce any potential risk to the resident. Practical solutions for those living with dementia are also available, this includes signage or colour differentiation for those who suffer with memory loss and are visually impaired.

The assessors will also be able to advise whether any grant funding is available for any works required. To book an appointment call the Careline Community Team on 01553 760671.

RAF Marham Flying Notices

Over the past two weeks there has been reduced flying activity from RAF Marham. This has been due to a period of summer block leave for Squadron personnel, giving them the opportunity to spend time with their families, ahead of an upcoming deployment to HMS QUEEN ELIZABETH which will once again include a period of isolation away from their families ahead of embarkation.

The Lightning Force will recommence their standard flying activity next week but the flying times will be different to what local residents may have become used to over the summer.

From Tuesday 25th August until Friday 9th October RAF Marham will be entering a phase of night flying. The night flying will predominantly take place Mondays to Thursdays and is expected to be completed before 2300 each evening. This night flying is essential for training ahead of two exercises that the Lightning Force will be taking part in this autumn. As part of this training the airfield is also expecting to be in use over the weekend of 12-13 September.

During the period 7 - 21 September there will be increased activity and it is expected that there will be both day and night flying during this time.

Please could you advertise this activity to your parishioners/readers. Posters will be emailed out to you next week and we ask if you could kindly display them on your available village noticeboards for your residents who do not have any internet access.

In summary the key points to note are:

25 August – 9 October – predominantly night flying Mon - Thurs, up until 2300 7 – 21 September – increased flying activity which will include sorties during the day and night

12 – 13 September – airfield likely to be in use over the weekend Diane Wilson

COMMUNITY NOTICE BOARD

Could you help a young person with a disability to think about their Future?

The CSV Futures Project supports young people with learning disabilities to explore their options as they think about leaving education.

Volunteer Mentors provide one to one support to a young person to help them develop a personal profile of their skills and interests, their likes and dislikes and their future goals. The Mentor can then support the young person to start working towards these; this can include accessing work experience and training opportunities plus the chance to try out volunteering and new social activities.

CSV needs volunteers who can offer a couple of hours of their time each week to mentor the young people as they make choices about their futures, raising aspirations by exploring together the young person's skills, interests and abilities.

We are looking for people ages 16+ - Mentors can come from all walks of life and no experience is needed but patience, the ability to listen and a sense of humour are all useful skills. Mentors receive full training and support and out of pocket expenses are paid.

If you would like to find out more about becoming a Volunteer Mentor for the CSV Futures Project please contact Vicki Howling, the project co-ordinator for an informal chat. Telephone 01366 386972 or 07926 044845 or email vhowling@csv.org.uk

CSV (Community Service Volunteers) is the UK's leading volunteering charity. Social justice is at the heart of what we do; empowering people to have a positive stake in society and tackle barriers to community participation through creating volunteering and learning opportunities.

BARTON BENDISH NEWS

How lovely it was to have the G4 magazine back last month, and thanks are in order to the people who delivered it. Personally, I just cannot get enthusiastic about virtual meetings, reading publications on the computer screen or even becoming part of social media so it's great to have one thing back to normal although there's probably going to be a long wait before much else returns to what it was pre Covid-19.

One thing that won't though is our pub, the Berney. A posting on Facebook dated 31 July announced the decision had been made that it would not open again and was officially closed as of that date. I know there are a lot of people who will miss it. At the moment, with the Village Hall, pub and church all closed there is nowhere in the village to meet socially even if it is safe to do so. However, we can still use the memorial seat to Ann Berchem in the middle of the village. Thanks are due to David, who with a little help from Paul S, rejuvenated it and that, with the tubs of orange begonias and smartened village sign, make an impressive feature in the centre of the village.

Progress continues on the Village Hall. The improvements being made have coincided with Covid-19 restrictions so, even it had been finished on schedule; it still wouldn't have been possible to hold our annual Art and Craft Exhibition in September. In many ways the two things happening at the same time has minimised the disruption to our calendar of events.

The village has been a quieter place without customers and guests visiting the Berney, although there's been a noticeable increase in the presence of 'white van men'. We, like most other people, have found on-line shopping so useful especially when the risk was too high to willingly traipse round town searching for things. Although I recycle as much as I can etc, I'm not an avid environmental campaigner, as such, but the increase in white van traffic from ordering on line concerns me. Most deliveries, even the smallest, and there's not much smaller than a reel of cotton, come separately. The other evening at about 7pm David was tracking his delivery and the driver made four stops in the village before he got to us! I suppose some of their carbon emissions though can be offset against those we'd have produced driving to Lynn to shop for specialist items.

The gypsy woman I've written about in my Countryside Notes this month quoted me a saying "Don't let education get in the way of learning" which she attributed to Mark Twain. I hope during Lockdown youngsters, with their reduced hours of formal education, have been able to expand their learning to take in the great outdoors. If they've spent time outside, whether in the garden, a park or walking in the countryside, they must surely have become more aware of the wonders of nature — plants, insects, animals, which surround them. Hopefully they've been interested enough to want to learn more about them and their curriculum will have been broadened. Lockdown couldn't have come at a better time of year for studying nature - spring is when everything is happening. They have had the opportunity to acquire knowledge about things they wouldn't have been able to within the four walls of a university, college or class room. A wider spectrum is needed to acquire additional general knowledge and common sense than is provided by formal education.

It's a funny old world at the moment. Who knows what the future holds. I've no great interest in politics but I do so wish that, for a few months at least, politicians and unions would put their differences aside. We all need to be pulling together, it's not the time to be apportioning blame or intensifying disagreements.

Barton Bendish Quizzes.

Due to Covid-19 and Lockdown, and the wish to stay connected to all the kind people who have supported us in the past, the Quizzes of a few years back were revived and circulated on line. This has proved hugely popular so if you would like to be added to the circulation list please email me at jill.events@btinternet.com with your email address.

The Quizzes originated as fund raising for the church and were sold at village events for £1 each as hard copies As they are now on line there are details on the quiz sheets regarding how to send a donation if you feel so inclined. Jill

The Only Brexiteer in the Village.

"You cannot escape the Responsibility of Tomorrow by evading it Today."

Abraham Lincoln

I must begin by explaining that this apparently critical description of my universally vilified politics was assigned to me in jest in a time before Covid and during a lively discussion in our pub, when we still had one. It seems inconceivable that, just a few months ago ,Brexit seemed to be the most important issue of the age, bringing government to a standstill, dividing communities and provoking visions of an unknown future, which would either be catastrophic or liberating. Brexiteers were labelled by their right on and politically correct opponents as racist, Imperialist or fascist...amongst other things. We are a society which proudly claims to celebrate difference but, actually, we are more intolerant than ever. Be that as it may, nothing could have prepared us for the tragedy and uncertainty which lay ahead. Most of us know or know of people who have died of this terrible virus. It has made some people kinder; it has affected our list of priorities. It has caused most of us to reflect on our previous lifestyles and to hope that something better will emerge.

Having no official position in the village now, perhaps I can discuss some issues with no fear of implicating anyone but myself. Not that I wish to be especially controversial but sometimes it is important to at least be able to raise questions, particularly those which I know many others are raising.

It is wonderful to see the astonishing progress being made with the Village Hall. The builders have done their best to minimise the difficulties posed by Covid regulations and with getting hold of all the materials necessary. There was a brief pause for slates but now the roof is done, the electrics are more or less complete and the extension looks superb. It is as if it has always been there. We are going to have a tremendous community asset for decades to come, one capable of meeting the increasingly complex range of needs in an ageing population facing all the problems associated with rural isolation. The fear of loneliness is one of the great issues of the age and one which must be urgently addressed, I'm sure that the owner must be very pleased that the village succeeded in raising over 90% of the cost of the work through attracting grants and through fundraising efforts. He now owns a much more valuable asset.

The Village Hall is likely to become even more vital given the uncertainty over the future of the Berney Arms. What do we actually know for certain? Very little. We know that the staff were made redundant last month. The rumour mill has it that Abricot are selling off all the pubs they own but there has been no official statement about the future of the pub as yet. This is disappointing, given the effect that the closure of the pub is bound to have on this village and the surrounding villages. No more Barton breakfasts, Sunday lunches or lively discussions over a beer after Film Club, Parish Council meetings or Village Hall events and the loss of the lovely people who have been so hospitable to us all during the last year. No doubt commercial pressures are involved and I wouldn't expect to hear about those but I believe that the village deserves to know exactly what the facts about sale and closure might be. Speculation is rarely helpful. Finally, it would be helpful to know whether the building has an ACV on it, which would prevent it from being sold for housing...or anything else, other than as a pub. In time we will see what the community is prepared to do to save its pub.

Two big companies with a poor record of customer service in Barton Bendish and elsewhere are Freebridge, who oversee some of the housing in the village, and Anglian Water, who are developing an unenviable reputation for treating mere customers with apparent disdain, while looking after Shareholders rather better.

It is well known that one house in the village managed by Freebridge has been more or less uninhabited for 18 months. Neighbours have suggested that the property would better used by a family who actually lived there. Statements have been taken from residents as evidence of multiple breaches of the tenancy agreement. Promises with deadlines attached have been given but when agreements are not kept, there seem to be no consequences. Freebridge have a duty to their tenants and would-be tenants and to neighbourhoods where their properties are situated. I would suggest that they are failing in these duties. No doubt the problems would be treated with greater urgency if they were happening near where they lived....

Quite a few Barton residents have been unhappy with Anglian Water whose antics have often been discussed at Parish Council meetings. Indeed, the PC and Liz Truss, who are involved yet again, have achieved far more than mere individuals. As a previous victim of their indifference, I was almost unsurprised to find that they were responsible for a serious leak under our floor at Witsend. After days of investigation, it became clear that the culprit was nothing to do with our own water supply but a water main serving a toilet block at the water treatment works. Eventually, the main was shut off although we still have no idea when it will be capped. The two AW employees who came were brilliant and gave us as much help as they could. Not so the company who sent a terse message through their men on the spot to," Sort it out with your Insurance Company". No apology, no concern....no involvement at all. We have had nearly a fortnight of worry, damage, uncertainty all caused beyond dispute by Anglian Water, a company with an appalling history of customer service. My point is this...Who, if anyone, are such companies accountable to? And how many times can they be allowed to provide such a terrible service without losing the ability to just keep on doing the same things over and over again?

After all that, I would like to end on a positive note or two! Apart from the brilliant progress at the Village Hall, so much good work goes on quietly in the village. Barton Aid have looked out for those who were shielding or who might have been isolated and lonely. I have heard numerous accounts of kind and unselfish acts by individuals determined to help those placed in difficulty by the Pandemic. And there is much to look forward to, however uncertain we might be about dates. The Community Library is ready to roll as soon as we get the go ahead. We need our church open as soon as possible, given that the other two community hubs are out of commission at the moment. That will be for the clergy to decide. It would be good to establish contact with them after such a long break. Now is not the time to neglect matters of the spirit!

We can look forward to the American style Harvest Breakfast advertised in G4 as the first community event for some time. And anyone wishing to get involved in a charitable event, it's worth thinking about visiting the Smalls for All stall on Swaffham Market, running from 8am to 2pm on the 19th September. Very few events have been possible until now but Swaffham Rotary Club have been given permission to run this for a second time, having been very successful last time. Some of what is collected goes to Africa but a surprising amount goes to needy people in Britain. We may assume that everyone in Britain should be able to afford to buy underwear....and indeed they should. Sadly, however, there are levels of poverty in this country that most of us can't even dream of. This is a chance to do something which makes a real difference. Donations can be made on the day and at a number of locations, including the Iceni Centre in Swaffham.

We are lucky to live where we do in West Norfolk where we have been protected to a degree from Covid and the need for distancing. Holidaymakers have caused problems on the North Norfolk coast but this isolated rural idyll remains much as it always was, surrounded by wildlife and the glories of Nature. Long may it continue.

Harvest Breakfast 5th September at 9.30

The 'American style' Harvest breakfast on the 5th September is at 9.30am will be an outside 'do' (in a garden) so as many people as would like to can come, but it would be useful if you could tell us if you know you'll be coming for definite to help with the catering. I think gazebos etc are planned should it be a little wet on the day! The plan is to have a collection of 'non-perishable food' at the breakfast for the homeless/food banks (rather than the traditional fruit and veg).

Contact Linda 347563 or Mhari 347849 to book your breakfast!

The Longing......

As I stand on the edge of the Warren between the conifer and silver birch, My eyes are drawn across the fen to the tower of Marham church. It seems so long since we were gathered there, Sharing worship together, readings, hymns and prayers. As I gaze across the fen, I wonder just how long Before the doors can open wide and we can lift our voice in song. I long to share the company of people that I know, A longing for the welcome that is there for all who go. We are now keeping our faith in whichever way suits us best. In private, in the woodland, at home, or on the internet. We know that He is close. He listens and He speaks. The Good Shepherd is nearby caring for His sheep. The view across the fen is bright, the sky is blue, and field softly green, Warblers are singing, and butterflies are everywhere to be seen. My heart feels lifted, and the pain of longing eased, Between the fen and tower there is a sense of peace.

More.....

On the other side of the wood , is Shouldham church , high up on the hill , Like Marham and the churches in the group , it stands empty and so still .

The bells are silent , no one within ,

I long to see the people who smile as we wait for the service to begin .

The other churches , that I can't quite see from here

Will be sharing the sadness that they cannot now 'draw near' .

But there must be many up and down the land

Finding new ways to worship 'hand in hand' .

No longer can we get up close ,

But like I'm thinking now.......

We can use our minds to make a picture

Of the things we love the most .

Church news September 2020

The church was cleaned professionally by Mr Sparkle of Stoke Ferry, as the first part of our attempt to get back to 'normal'. The necessary risk assessment was carried out, following the Church of England guidelines and we decided to open for private prayer once a week in August. By only opening once a week, we will be able to leave a 72 hour gap, which would save on the cleaning. We don't have the personnel to clean every day. The church was used for private prayer on the first day, so that was encouraging. The 27^{th} September has been arranged as our first 'live' service, with our new Team Leader, the Revd. Carol Nicholas – Letch. This will probably be our Harvest Festival, although we won't be able to sing the traditional harvest hymns. Further details of this will be published nearer the day, either by email, in the pew sheets, or notices on the board and the church door. We will continue to open the church once a week for private prayer from September, usually on Wednesdays, but look out for notices as there may be reasons for change.

During the enforced closure of the church, many of the congregation have joined with others, either from the Wissey Valley group or from across the Deanery, in live services on Zoom twice a week. We have all found them excellent and we give thanks for the input of the various clergy, lay ministers and others. It hasn't seemed as if we hadn't seen our friends for five months. On July 26th, we actually had an opportunity to meet together in real life, at the annual Deanery service at Stow Hall. Numbers were estimated at between eighty to a hundred. Carol Nicholas-Letch was installed as our group Team Leader, three young people from Feltwell were confirmed and the Bishop of Ely took the service. It was excellent!

By the time this is published, the Annual Parochial Church Meeting will have taken place. It's much later than usual, because of Covid -19 and all that has entailed, and will be a shorter version. New church officials will have been elected. As the current churchwarden, I'd like to thank all those who have served on the PCC this year, for all their work and support. We are truly blessed in their service.

You have probably seen my thoughts on finance in earlier editions. We have no regular income if services are not taking place because of the virus, but bills still need to be paid. We are expecting to have the broken tiles on the roof replaced this week (August), if weather permits, and there is work needed on a buttress. We've had one visit from the tree surgeon, to make safe the magnificent ash tree in the corner of the churchyard and to remove a branch from another tree, which was overhanging the neighbouring drive. Several members of the congregation have donated sums of money, and a few people in the village make regular donations through their bank accounts. If you value the church, which is also used by the Parish Council during normal times, perhaps you would consider making a regular donation, or a one off amount. Bank account details for this can be obtained from Angela Faherty, our Treasurer.

Another way in which you could help church funds is by taking part in the annual Church Cycle ride on September 12th. Half of all money raised by each individual is returned to the local church. I have the forms and information, so all I need is a volunteer. Or two, three......With all the exercise we are being exhorted to take, it can do the church good and individual health. If you've put on weight during lockdown, how about it? My phone number is 500429 if you are willing to do the ride and get sponsors.

From: Chair, Boughton Parish Council

Just a short one this time as we have no meeting until 1st September.

As I write this, the temperatures are soaring, but thunderstorms are expected. With lockdown easing and the numbers of new COVID-19 cases in Norfolk staying very low it is good to see some resumption of normality with shops, pubs and restaurants reopening. However, we must continue to be vigilant and take precautions to protect ourselves and others. If you have neighbours that might suffer in this heat, why not pop round and make sure they're ok - at a safe distance.

I am delighted to be able to report that at last we have been able to order the speed sign for the village that we agreed on at the public meeting way back in May 2019. Lead times are still 6-8 weeks as the manufacturer isn't quite up to full speed. But soon, no-one will have any excuse for speeding in the village and we will start to collect data on traffic flow.

Take care. Stay safe.

Regards Neil Matthew

WEREHAM VILLAGE HALL

In line with current government guidelines Wereham Village Hall reopened for business in mid July. Since then we are pleased to have welcomed back several of our regular activity groups, such as Line Dancing, Bingo, Zumba and Tai Chi, as well as a number of visitors from the local and wider community. Monthly Cinema shows started in early August, the next of these being on 18th September. Likewise our monthly Car Boot is up and running again, the September date being the 27th.

Some activities are planned to recommence later this year or in the New Year. For further details you are advised to contact the individual group organiser and/ or check the Village Hall website and Facebook page.

The safety measures that we have put in place to protect all of our staff and customers are working well but, as ever, we rely on all of you to follow all of the standard guidelines to protect both you, friends and family, and other users of the building.

The measures that we have introduced to facilitate customers' use of the building whilst ensuring their safety and wellbeing include:

- Extra staff training
- · A self completed register for all users on entering the building
- Clearly defined entry and exit points
- Strict control of numbers in order to maintain social distancing and to avoid congestion
- The provision of hand sanitiser at designated points
- Regular cleaning of all contact points within the building (handles, switches, tables, chairs etc)
- A "one in one out" system for the toilets, with cleaning wipes and hand washing facilities for customer use

- Reduced seating capacities
- The cafe will only be open for specific events and will operate on a "take-away" basis, with single use items such as sugar sachets and disposable cups.

All group leaders are expected to take responsibility for all of their members' and participants' safe use of the building, maintaining accurate records of all attendees and retaining a register of users.

We are certain that by continuing to work together and respecting each other, we can provide a safe environment for everyone at Wereham Village Hall. As the situation progresses and hopefully improves, we look forward to a number of other activities and events taking place in the Village Hall, and to welcoming everyone back to the Village Hall in a safe, secure and healthy way. Please keep checking our website and facebook pages for the latest news.

We value your continued support and look forward to seeing you again soon.

Social Behaviours – We often talk about what is 'anti-social behaviour', but the Council would like to promote 'social behaviours' as a positive step. It is important that we all consider our neighbours and fellow residents in any actions that we take in our own homes, gardens and out and about. Wereham has been well regarded by visitors and residents as being a friendly village with many opportunities to make friends and support each other. It is important that we continue to uphold these values, so just a couple of social behaviours to highlight and think about:

- Please could users of the playing field and facilities, and parents of children who attend unaccompanied think about how late is acceptable to be using it, as potentially past daylight hours it can cause disturbance to neighbouring homes. We have not ever had an official closure time, but a reasonable time would probably be when it begins to get dark.
- Fishing at the pond is for parishioners only, this is for the protection of the fish as their environment is a delicate balance, but also for the homes that surround the pond. There are rules displayed at the pond. Whilst confrontation is not something the Council wishes to pursue with individuals that don't abide by rules and who are not parishioners, residents of the village can assist by ensuring they follow the fishing rules, tidy up after themselves and spread the word to others that this is the case and fact.
- Dog Waste continues to always be an issue, and with five dog bins around the village, including those in our own homes, there should be no excuse for not cleaning up after. But unfortunately it continues, please could all dog walkers in the village collect their dog waste and either take it home or place in the dog waste bins provided and paid for by all parishioners. We all want to enjoy our village so there really is no excuse not to pick up dog waste. The five dog bins available are at the playing field; off Cavenham Road, Lamas Lane; End of the Row/Wretton Row and on Church Road/Junction with back lane). So this is plenty of points to deposit waste plus the option to take it home. Please respect the village and clean up after your dog.

Wereham Cemetery – Memorials Next of Kin Please could any members of the public known to be the next of kin for memorials within the Wereham Cemetery please contact the Parish Clerk to agree to share their contact details. We need to ensure that our contact database for the purposes of contacting next of kin, where we need to discuss memorials is as up to date as possible. Memorials that have been laid down for safety reasons can be reinstated by commissioning a stone mason to install what is called a NAAM bar.

Highways – Paths and Roads – Defects Please report anything that you see verges, trees, pot holes, main holes, drains to Norfolk County Council Highways via their defects page of their website. You need to set up a login, and once on the site you can easily report issues and upload pictures of the issue. They will then arrange inspection. You are also able to track the report. Should a report not be resolved as you wish please then contact the Parish Council. The Parish Council will report issues that it finds, but if residents do this also we can increase the repairs that we notice need doing. https://apps.norfolk.gov.uk/HighwaysDefect/
